Autumn leaves

by Stephanie Guffanti, age 14

The trees are a crayon box of colors

Fiery red, brilliant red, and radiant red

Outrageous orange and pumpkin orange

Rich gold, bright gold, and harvest moon gold.

In comes a cool breeze

That stirs all the leaves.

The leaves fall from the trees

And they dance on the ground and scatter around.

The leaves skitter and scatter

And crunch underfoot,

And they swirl in the air,

Leaving all the trees bare.
